POLITICAL FEAR

Were it not for the fact that the average officeholder is the victim of political fear, the nation as a whole and the state also, to say nothing of the county and the municipality would not be afflicted with the blind staggers as today.

But for the fact that the average officeholder is the victim of political fear, retrenchment all along the line would have already taken place, and county, commonwealth, county and municipality, would not be in the doldrums as at present.

This was voiced recently by Senator Tydings of Maryland, in a fiery attack upon waste and extravagance in the Senate of the United States, as that body began consideration of the $961,000,000 Treasury-Postoffice supply bill, which he asked to have sent back to the committee for severe pruning.

Tydings even threatened to resign his seat in the Senate unless an honest effort were made to reduce costs and aid in the economic survey of the country.

He shouted, "If I can't vote my own sentiments here, why to hell with this job."

The Maryland Senator said, and said truly, that the members of Congress should be forcibly restrained from appropriating more money than the Treasury would receive.

The trouble is, and this trouble has existed too long, the Members of Congress are the victims of fear that a sword of Damocles may fall on their political heads and sever them from their jobs unless they stultify their own judgment and sentiments.

A GOOD THING TO FORGET

Revival of the weird proposal that a bridge be built across the Straits of Mackinac is chiefly unfortunate because it may tend to distract some legislators at Lansing during a period when they should be keeping their minds on serious work and abstaining from day dreams. A bridge across the Straits is not needed and probably never will be needed. The idea that one should be built was among the wildest of the dreams of a mad joyriding period. Even if a bridge were desirable, the cost would be prohibitive at this time. Where can the State find $50,000,000 or $30,000,000 for such a project? From the Reconstruction Finance Corp.? The hard-headed gentlemen at the head of

MC NAMARA FOR VILLAGE PRES.

PLAN OF DIVIDING POLITICAL FAVORS ABANDONED

The Village caucus was held Tuesday night when C. J. McNamara was nominated for Village president to succeed C. O. McCullough, who has served in that capacity for the past two years.

O. P. Schumann was elected temporary chairman and Lorane Sparkes clerk.

Ever since the village has been incorporated there has been an understanding that political honors be divided, as far as village trustees are concerned, between 3 Republicans and three Democrats. A motion was presented that this plan be eliminated in the future and that candidates be selected from the citizens generally, regardless of party affiliations. After some discussion of the propriety of such a change, the ballot showed 55 in favor of the change and 22 opposed.

A motion requiring a majority in order to nominate, also carried with a substantial majority.

Candidates Nominated

The following candidates were nominated:

President—C. J. McNamara.

Clerk—Lorane Sparkes.

Treasurer—Paul Ziebell.

Trustees for two years—Jess Schoonover, Nelson O. Corwin and Thomas Cassidy.

Trustee to fill vacancy for one year made by the temporary removal from Grayling of Emil Giegling—A. S. Burrows.

Assessor—George N. Olson.

Following village committee was duly elected: O. P. Schumann, Dr. C. R. Keyport and T. P. Peterson.

The largest number of votes cast during the caucus was 77.

MRS. MARY A. DERRY

Mrs. Mary A. Derry died at the home of her daughter Mrs. Elvira Jennings on the South Side at 11:55 o'clock Monday night. She was 88 years of age and had made her home in Grayling for over 25 years. She was the wife of Orlando R. Derry, a veteran of the civil war, who passed away in the year 1911. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Jennings, she is survived by one son—Willis of Ypsilanti, and several grand children.

Funeral services are being held at the Jennings home this afternoon. Interment will be at Elmwood cemetery.

THRONGS AT CARNIVAL

Many Pleasant Carnival Affairs Sports Events Thrill Crowds

For the first time in three years Grayling has had an opportunity to really put to use the Winter Sports Park which so many have donated their time and labor to complete.

Beginning about noon Saturday tendants. First came little Billy-ann Clippert, simply charming in a pink net frock carrying the gorgeous crown on a satin pillow, the queen followed looking lovely in a white gown with train falling from her shoulders. She carried a corsage of pink roses. Her majesty's train was carried by pioneer of Winter Sports. This was most impressive. Dr. Keyport also spoke of our gratitude to our neighboring town, Petoskey, who had come to the carnival with such a large crowd, bringing with them the fancy skaters, hockey teams, ski team, etc. He then announced that dancing

MALCOLM MCLEOD PASSED AWAY

Malcolm William John McLeod, a well known resident of Grayling since 1892 passed away Thursday, Feb. 16th. Mr. McLeod had been in ill health for some time and unable to do any work, and he passed away at his home Thursday at 9:25 a. m.

Mr. McLeod was born in Saginaw November 28, 1868, where he lived until he moved to Grayling in 1892. He was married to Marie Castella, at Grayling on

B. B. TOURNAMENT MARCH 2-3-4

Grayling should have a bigger and more entertaining district tournament which is to open a week from tonight for a three-day program. More teams have entered and they appear to be more evenly matched. Local fans, and fans of the district for seventy-five miles around will all find the Grayling high school gymnasium, a hub of activity of an intense nature.

The tournament is making an effort to reach the fans through a program of reduced prices that ought to pack the house. Students will be admitted to the sessions at 15c each, with adults paying 35c at night and 25c for the one afternoon session. In addition the tournament will offer tournament tickets that will be somewhat cheaper. All the games at night will begin at eight, and two and three games each night will be played. The Friday afternoon program will start at two. All games will be called on even hours. The same referees who successfully managed the games last year will again officiate. Roy Milnes of Grayling and Gordon Tabraham of Cadillac will do the whistle-blowing and should be busy enough. Plans for the drawing are being perfected by Tournament manager Gerald Poor. After three years of successful management of Mr. M. A. Bates decided to relinquish the responsibility and will be in charge of the box office this year.

The drawings of this Saturday should make very interesting brackets. Five Class C entries complicate matters and add an extra game. Mio is the addition to the Grayling-Gaylord-West Branch-Lake City combination of the past. The ruling is that all home teams must compete the first round, therefore Grayling will play on Thursday night against one of the other four. On Friday night the other four Class C teams will compete for the right to enter the finals on the next night.

In Class D six entries mean two byes. Two games in this class will open the tournament on Thursday night. Two more Class D games will comprise the Friday afternoon attraction, and then the finals on Saturday night. In Class D the entries will be St. Mary's of Gaylord, St. Joe of West Branch, Johannesburg, Houghton Lake, Roscommon and McBain.

In addition to the tournament games the tournament is hoping to announce the Grayling Lumberjacks for a game on Saturday night to make a three-game program. A suitable opponent has not yet been located. This game would make a ten-game tournament and should be very popular.

In the box at all games will be Fred Alexander, veteran tournament timer, and Charles Webb keeping the score book. Adult tournament tickets are on sale at the drug stores.

As soon as the drawings are completed they will be posted publicly so that fans can study the chances of their favorites.

QUEEN HONORED WITH DINNER

Some forty guests sat down to a dinner complimenting the Winter Sports Queen, Miss Nadine McNeven and her court, Miss Norma Pray, Miss Pauline Lietz, Miss Mary Mahneke, Miss Lula Malone, Miss Matilda Engels, and Miss Elaine Reagan at Shoppenagons Inn Friday evening.

The long table on which the dinner was served was centered with a silver candelabrum with five lighted tapers; at each end were graceful silver baskets of pink rosebuds and sweetpeas, while sprays of smylax trailed along the entire length. At the head of the table Miss McNeven sat while at the foot was seated Miss Gail Welsh, Queen of 1932.

Just before the dessert course was served Dr. Keyport made a few informal remarks and presented the Queen of 1933 with a bracelet on which was engraved "1933 Winter Sports Queen, Miss Nadine McNeven." The guest of honor replied, thanking the association for the gift and also for making the occasion possible.

Immediately following the dinner the guests attended the play "One Hundred Grand" where before the opening of the play the Queen and her court were presented to the audience by Dr. C. R. Keyport. Each young lady received hearty applause.

cars and busses started to arrive in Grayling and the village began to take on the appearance of prosperity again. Automobiles filled the streets and local drivers experienced the feeling one encounters the first time they drive in city traffic.

In the evening the Queen's Ball, held in the local high school gymnasium, furnished entertainment for visitors as well as local enthusiasts. The slides were kept busy until late hours Saturday night and again Sunday morning until the warming atmosphere rendered further activity impossible.

The carnival has proven beyond doubt the fact that outsiders are interested and will drive many miles to participate and that, with favorable winter weather, the project will be self-supporting. The present bank situation all over Michigan together with anticipation of warm weather, no doubt, kept many from coming here who otherwise would also have enjoyed the sports.

Local sports lovers are hoping the weather man will favor Grayling with more weather which will permit the use of the equipment at the park this year.

Grayling is gifted with as many, if not more, natural facilities for sports of all kinds, skiing, tobogganing, hunting, fishing, boating, swimming, etc., than any other single point in the state. As the availability of these facilities become better known, Grayling will also, and in time, should be known as a mecca for sportsmen of all descriptions.

Queen's Ball

Saturday evening an informal ball was given at the school gymnasium with a large representative crowd in attendance.

The gym was simply but attractively decorated with bright colored balloons, and snow shoes which had been placed around the lower edge of the balcony. The "Northern Lights" dance orchestra of West Branch was seated on an elevated platform back of which pink crepe paper had been arranged. From here the soft strains of a waltz or the fast peppy foxtrot was played by the popular orchestra.

At 11 o'clock the musicians played a slow moving march and the doors were thrown open for the triumphal entry of the 1933 Winter Sports Queen and her at-two darling pages, Jane Elizabeth Milnes and Betty Jane Sparkes, dressed in white satin outfits. Two at a time came the six attendants most intriguing in white ankle length gowns, at the hem of which was a broad band, imitating white fur. They carried white muffs with attached bouquets of violets. Tiny tilted white hats quite completed the picture. As the queen and her cortege reached the throne, which had been placed at the front of the orchestra elevation, the attendants separated, standing three on either side with the pages, while little Billyann stood at the right of the throne.

Dr. C. R. Keyport was master of ceremonies. He gave a short resume of Winter Sports and then placed the crown on the head of the 1933 queen while the gym echoed with cheers. He then asked that the crowd bow their head in silence for just a second as a tribute to our beloved Reuben Babbitt, who was the would follow, he leading with the queen as his partner.

The party was a success in every detail and the crowd danced to their hearts content until the small hours of the morning, feeling that the ball was one of the big features of the Winter Sports program.

First Day

Early in the afternoon several cars of Petoskey visitors arrived. Among them were Miss Mable White, queen of the Petoskey carnival, and two members of her court—Ann McGinn and Jeanne Dombroski. Also there was a group made up largely of speed and fancy skaters, including Gerald Leshner, Michigan champion two-mile skater and several other titles in junior class; Robert Southerland, champion of the intermediates; Homer Golden, title holder in the juvenile division; Carl Giles, Al Compton, Robert

New discovery makes homes easy to heat

—cuts fuel bills 20 to 35%

J-M Rock Wool Home Insulation, the amazing new development of the Johns-Manville laboratories, does wonders for homes that are hard to heat. When installed between the beams in your attic floor or ceiling, it forms a heat-proof barrier over 3 inches thick. It imprisons within the home the heat that otherwise would escape, making it easier to maintain even, comfortable temperatures during the coldest winter days. At the same time, it saves 20 to 35% of your present fuel bills.

Furthermore, in summer your home will be from 6 to 12 degrees cooler on the hottest days. Experts agree that only thick rock wool will protect homes against heat and cold in a truly scientific way.

Phone us today and let us tell you how little it will cost to make your home easy to heat in winter... really comfortable in summer. No obligation.

Rock Becomes Wool
Johns-Manville actually blows solid limestone into a light, fluffy substance that looks like wool but is pure mineral—clean, fireproof, vermin-proof, permanent, odorless. This wool is then felted into "batts" for easy handling and installation between the beams in the attic floor or attic ceiling.

The art of hat making is relatively new although for centuries some kind of head dress was worn. Until about 1400, caps were worn in certain European countries when the feeling process was developed. The derby was introduced in America in 1874 while silk hats made their debut in Italy in 1760.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

Roosevelt Escapes Assassin's Bullets but Mayor Cermak Is Wounded—Senate Adopts Dry Repeal Resolution by Surprisingly Large Majority.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

SHOT at five times by an anarchist in Miami, President-Elect Franklin D. Roosevelt narrowly escaped being added to the list of America's illustrious victims of assassins. Not one of the bullets struck him, but Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, who was talking with Mr. Roosevelt, was seriously wounded. Two other men and two women in the throng that was gathered in Bay Front park to welcome the President-Elect also were hit by the assassin's bullets and it was feared one of the women would not survive. Mr. Roosevelt had just landed after his fishing cruise, had made a brief talk to the thousands in the park and was being greeted by personal friends when the anarchist, identified as Giuseppe Zangara of Hackensack, N. J., fired at him at a distance of 20 feet. In the great excitement and turmoil Mr. Roosevelt remained calm and insisted on taking Mr. Cermak to a hospital in his car. He remained over night on the yacht Nourmahal and visited the wounded mayor next morning before leaving by train for New York.

All the world was shocked by the attempted assassination and messages of congratulation on his escape poured in on Mr. Roosevelt, one of the first received being from President Hoover. Mrs. Roosevelt heard the news as she returned home from a club where she had made an address. Her only comment on learning that her husband was uninjured was: "I am thankful." She did not change her plans, which took her next day to Utica to speak at a home and farm week celebration.

Secret service operatives in Miami said Zangara, the assassin, was a member of an anarchist group at Paterson, N. J., and that he declared he had no accomplices, acting entirely on his own initiative. Immediate steps toward his trial were taken, but the authorities were careful to avoid any possible charges that Zangara was being "railroaded."

BY THE rather surprising vote of 63 to 23 the senate adopted the revised Blaine resolution submitting repeal of the Eighteenth amendment to constitutional conventions in the states. In this form the measure is almost in accord with the plank of the Democratic platform. It provides for outright repeal except for federal protection for dry states against liquor importations.

Speaker Garner predicted the resolution would be speedily accepted by the house. The approval of the President is not required; but it must be ratified by 30 states.

Voting for the resolution in the senate were 33 Democrats, 29 Republicans and 1 Farmer-Laborite. Against it were 9 Democrats and 14 Republicans.

The Illinois senate passed legislation wiping out the state prohibition law and the search and seizure act.

WHILE Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay was starting back to Washington with the British proposals for the war debt discussion scheduled for March, Senator Key Pittman introduced a bill that would seem to have some merit, though our expert financiers may tear it to pieces. The measure would permit Great Britain to make the payment on her debt due in June in silver, and this, according to Mr. Pittman, would operate to the advantage of the United States; would enable England to avoid transfer of gold to meet the next war debt payment and would make possible acceptance by Great Britain of silver in payment of a large sum due from India before the June war debt payment.

The Pittman bill would authorize the acceptance by this government of any sum up to $100,000,000 due from Great Britain in silver at current market value.

Its purpose was explained as follows by Mr. Pittman:

"The government of India owes Great Britain approximately $85,000,000. It has been reported with some authority that India desires to pay this debt to Great Britain with silver. The acceptance by the United States of $74,950,000 worth of silver at the world market price of silver of approximately 25 cents an ounce, which is probably lower than it will ever be again, would not only be profitable to the United States but advantageous to both the United States and Great Britain.

"Under such a settlement the United States would receive 290,800,000 ounces of silver at the present market price of around 25 cents an ounce. Under the provisions of the act our government out of such silver would coin 74,950,000 standard silver dollars. It would deposit them in the treasury and issue and circulate against them $74,950,000 in silver certificates similar to those now in circulation in the United States.

"As it requires only seventy-eight one-hundredths of an ounce of silver in the coinage of standard silver dollars, there would remain, therefore, in the treasury, in addition to such 74,950,000 standard silver dollars, 241,339,000 ounces of silver to be held in the treasury as security for the maintenance of the parity of the silver certificates so issued."

ONE of the eminent men called on to advise the senate finance committee, Dr. Herman F. Arendt, a Boston economist, condemning any plan for "internationally managed currency," such as may be expected to be put forth at the coming international economic conference, declared that what we need is less credit and more hard cash. Silver is the salvation, in this hard money campaign, he maintained. Its remonetization would be the engine-priming that would, in six months, enable America to sell to the Orient between 600 and 650 million dollars' worth of lumber, wheat, cotton and copper.

First of the advisers heard by the committee was Bernard M. Baruch, who is likely to be in the Roosevelt cabinet. He argued vigorously against currency inflation and in favor of a speedy balancing of the budget, and urged the adoption of a beer tax and the repeal of the Eighteenth amendment. He also advised the federal leasing of farm acreage to curtail production, and this plan was endorsed by C. C. Teague, former member of the farm board. Mr. Teague, asserting that the collapse of the credit structure of the country was the fundamental cause of the depression, urged federal guarantee of bank deposits, and in this he has the full support of Speaker Garner.

George N. Peek, a manufacturer of Moline, Ill., set forth his objections to the domestic allotment bill, which is doomed to death either in the senate or in the White House, and proposed a modification of the plan whereby curtailment of acreage would come after planting and before harvest, since "the variation in yield of all growing crops from year to year depends 75 per cent on weather and pests, largely beyond human control, and only 25 per cent on the acreage planted."

FINANCIAL troubles of the Union Guardian Trust company, an investment concern of Detroit, led Gov. William A. Comstock of Michigan to take the courageous step of proclaiming an eight-day bank holiday, and his drastic action received the approval and legal sanction of the legislature. The legislators also got busy at once with the enactment of measures covering the situation and bearing retroactive clauses.

Except for the upper peninsula, which is separated both geographically and economically from the remainder of the state, the banks were abiding by the holiday order. The upper peninsula is in a different federal reserve bank district and, although the governor of the Federal Reserve bank of Minneapolis said he was keeping hands off in the situation, most banks above the Straits of Mackinac were doing business as usual.

The Federal Reserve bank of Detroit remained open and received millions of dollars from Chicago and New York, and the Detroit Clearing House association made arrangements whereby $25,000,000 was made available to depositors, the latter being permitted to withdraw not in excess of 5 per cent of their balances for emergency purposes before the expiration of the holiday. Several of the biggest Detroit corporations announced that they were continuing to pay their workers in cash, and all business concerns except the financial houses carried on as usual.

WRITING with restraint concerning the antics of the present congress is difficult. What the house does in the way of economy, if anything, is speedily undone by the senate, and vice versa, or else both sides agree on some legislation which they well know will not get by with President Hoover. Probably all economies that might hit the constituencies or the favorites of any members will be left for Mr. Roosevelt to put into effect through the extraordinary powers which the Democrats propose to confer on him. In the language of the street, they are passing the buck.

Senator Bratton's amendment to the treasury-post office supply bill providing for a 5 per cent cut in appropriations, and the Navy department's plans for maintaining the fleet efficiency by shutting down the pork barrel shore establishments caused a hurried lineup of the congressional supporters of the useless navy yards. But the two propositions put Chairman Carl Vinson of the house naval affairs committee in a quandary. He announced he would fight the Bratton plan in so far as it concerned the navy, and if it carried, he would fight to have the navy yards at Boston, Charleston and Portsmouth closed down.

SOMETHING concrete in the way of unemployment relief was done by the senate when it voted to add $22,000,000 to the War department supply bill for 1934 for the purpose of enrolling and training 85,000 homeless men and idle young men in year-round citizens' training camps. Senator Couzens of Michigan was the originator of the part of the plan which is designed to provide a home, food and something to do for a considerable part of the 300,000 boys who are said to be tramping about the country. The clauses providing that the lads be placed under discipline, required to drill, and limiting those received to Americans physically and mentally fit for community life were introduced at the instance of Senator David Reed of Pennsylvania. As the bill was drawn, boys between fifteen and twenty-one years old will be admissible provided they can show that they have been without work for six months or more, and provided they can meet the C. M. T. C. entrance requirements as to citizenship and health.

INVESTIGATION of the election of John H. Overton as senator from Louisiana by a senate committee that went to New Orleans gave Senator Huey Long opportunity for many characteristic outbursts, and though he apologized frequently to the committee, Chairman Howell threatened him with action for contempt. Long's brother, now his bitter enemy, and various other witnesses told of many instances of alleged corruption, graft and extortion in Louisiana, and the retort of the "Kingfish" in nearly every case was "You're a liar"—with profane trimmings. The charges involved both Overton and Long.

JAPAN informed the world that its negotiations with the League of Nations in the Manchurian dispute had come to an end. The foreign office in Tokyo said it would offer no further concessions and would stand firmly by its determination to maintain the government of Manchukuo. Yosuke Matsuoka, Japan's able representative at Geneva was given instructions to this effect and told to withdraw from the league and return home as soon as the league adopted the report of the committee of nineteen which reasserts the principle of Chinese sovereignty in Manchuria and declines to recognize Manchukuo. All this was formulated by the cabinet and approved by the emperor.

Dispatches from Tokyo said the government feels that withdrawal from the League of Nations will be the turning point in the empire's history. Before the ultimate decision is made, it was announced, there would be an extraordinary conference of the council of elders, the heads of branches of the Imperial family, all living former premiers and other distinguished personages.

Meanwhile plans for a general Japanese offensive against the Chinese province of Jehol, which Japan claims is a part of Manchukuo, were reported well under way, and it was expected that a campaign would soon begin to drive out several hundred thousands of Marshal Chang's troops. If this movement starts before Japan actually quits the League of Nations the league might apply sanctions under Article 16 of the covenant, and the results of this could well involve many nations.

DESPITE the efforts of Brazil and other South American nations, backed up by our State department, real war has broken out between Colombia and Peru and the former country has severed diplomatic relations and declared that mediation is finished. This rupture resulted from an air attack by Peru on a Colombian flotilla on the Putumayo river which was repulsed by Colombian planes and was followed by an engagement at the town of Tarapaca, on the Brazilian border.

Following the play "One Hundred Grand," the cast, together with those who had had any part in the production were entertained at the Board of Trade rooms. A lunch was furnished by several people interested in Winter Sports. The young people had spent two weeks practicing for the play and the party was just a small way of showing appreciation for their splendid effort.

The Republican County convention, that met at the Court house in Grayling last Tuesday afternoon, elected Dr. Clarence G. Clippert for delegate to the State convention to be held in Grand Rapids February 28th. Merle F. Nellist was elected alternate. Dr. Clippert also will attend a meeting of a branch of the State Medical association, which begins next Monday.

The Lansing legislators should "forget it."—Detroit Free Press.

Speaking of politics, the present leadership in the republican party is facing a crucial test in the approaching spring election. If Highway Commissioner G. C. Dillman is denied a re-nomination at Grand Rapids, a dozen reputable out state weekly republican newspapers will show a degree of political independence that will shock the state organization. The people have come to understand that Mr. Dillman is a high type of public official and private citizen and the fact that he has not played sufficient politics to suit the Wayne and Kent county republican leaders is his best recommendation to the state at large, without regard to politics. If the coming republican state convention rejects Mr. Dillman, look out for political breakers. They're in the offing.—Charlotte Republican.

A West Branch man was heard knocking the Chamber of Commerce yesterday. He is not a member of the Chamber of Commerce and does not attend any of its meetings. In this respect he is not unlike most of the knockers of any good enterprise in the community. As a general proposition the fellow who knocks the Chamber of Commerce does not attend. He does not give the association the benefit of his membership fee and the meetings the benefit of his presence or council in any of its deliberations. Yet he knows what is the matter with the whole works. He thinks he knows, but he doesn't because the whole trouble is himself and others like him and he cannot saddle the blame anywhere else.—West Branch Herald.

Here are two extremes: the late Governor Brucker refusing to parole or pardon prisoners except as their sentence expired in full. ## WHAT MICHIGAN PAYS

Yes, we have no reductions! A few years ago the congressmen and senators decided that they were being underpaid, so they raised their salaries from $7,500 to $10,000. Then they further decided that they should contribute nothing toward the support of their government so they exempted themselves from any income tax and to sweeten the smell of that job they included school teachers in the exemption. Then a short time ago they decided that it would mean so little to the taxpayers, they would not cut their salaries. One can see at a glance how far out of touch they are with the taxpayer. When we realize that the federal government took $55,000,000 from Michigan last year, or more than our own state government, we can begin to sit up and take notice of what our federal expenses mean to you and to me!—Grand Lodge Independent.

FISH KNOWN BY MANY NAMES

A black bass is a white bass, a sunfish is a moonfish, and a pike is a trout.

There isn't a species of fish in Michigan's waters that is not known by at least a half dozen other names in other states, according to the Fish Division of the Department of Conservation, and frequently this diversity of names causes confusion.

As an example, the Fish Division pointed out, when a Mississippi angler says that he caught a trout, the chances are it was the same fish that is known in Michigan as a smallmouth black bass, which is known in some localities as a black perch, or in other places as a hogfish. The largemouth black bass has even more designations. He is known variously as a green bass, white bass, a welshman, bride perch, cow bass, southern chub or he may be known as a yellow pond perch.

The "wall-eye" pike is another species gifted with a long array of names. On the Great Lakes he may be known as a pickerel, yellow pike or pike-perch. In other localities he may be a river trout, jack pike, white-eye, jack salmon, blowfish or a blue pike.

The trout is fortunate in that almost universally he is known by that one name. However, the brook trout is sometime a speckled or a mountain trout. The rainbow is frequently a coast range trout and a brown trout may be a Von Pehr trout, German trout or a European brook trout, depending upon the particular locality.

The lake species are more frequently given a wide range of names in various waters. The sheepshead is known to some as the thunderpumper, croaker, bobber or white perch. The bullhead may be a miller's thumb, mufflejaw, springfish or blob. The burbot is a lake lawyer, ling, alekey trout or a long-tailed cat.

Sunfish in some places are known as roaches, pugnosed shiners, bitterheads, shiners, chubs, moonfish or horsefish. Calico bass are sometimes banklick bass, lamplighters, or black crappies.

Muskellunge are great pike or tiger-fish. Bluegills are sometimes blue joes, blue perch or dollardees. Yellow perch are also known as American perch, ringed perch, raccoon perch or zebra perch.

While practically every species of fish is known by numerous names, so far as the Department of Conservation is concerned, and for the sake of uniformity, each species is given one definite name which is used in all laws, regulations and official correspondence.

OPPOSITION TO NEW TAX GROWS

MOORE DELINQUENT TAX BILL BRANDED AID TO LAND DEALERS

(By Elton R. Eaton)

Lansing, Mich.—There will be no sales tax bill enacted by the present session of the state legislature. There will be no income tax bill passed—not unless the administration is able to convert some of its own aggressive leaders to a belief that Michigan should have an additional tax income.

It has just become known that there is a senate group of which Senator Francis Kulp, Democrat, of Battle Creek, apparently seems to be the leader, determined to stop any taxation legislation of any kind.

Senator Kulp is outspoken in his determination to see to it that no new tax revenues are passed on to the people of Michigan. "Why should the people who last year paid into the state treasury nearly $125,000,000 be required to pay more? How can they pay it even if we do pass new tax laws? And I tell you here there will be no new tax laws passed by this senate if I can stop it. I am not alone in this stand," stated Senator Kulp this week.

"Not only will we oppose any new tax plan but I am inclined to believe that some of the present taxes and licenses should be reduced. The automobile weight tax is too high. The gas tax is too high. Every tax we have got is too high. How do I know? When people can't pay their taxes, isn't that sufficient proof of the fact that taxes and licenses are too high? Yes, I realize that Governor Comstock would like to see a sales tax law passed, but I cannot and will not support any legislation of any kind that provides an additional cent of new taxes in any form. I will support every bit of legislation that comes through that tends to reduce taxation," added Senator Kulp. Senator Kulp represents the Calhoun-Branch district, being the first Democratic senator elected from that part of the state in nearly a generation.

Right on top of the determined stand taken by Senator Kulp against the Governor's sales and income tax proposals, comes a declaration from Representative Vernon J. Brown that he will fight to the last ditch the bill hurried through the senate by Senator Moore of Pontiac that provides for the payment of delinquent taxes and special assessments over a period of years.

"Moore is in the legislature representing a group of Detroit and Oakland county real estate speculators who have benefited more than any one else in the world through the sale of real estate. These speculators platted off thousands and thousands of acres of land. They sold it to the working man, to those that wanted to create homes for their families. These buyers, no longer able to keep up payments on the land, have turned it back to the real estate operators, who made a nice profit on their first transaction," states Representative Brown.

"Now that they have re-possession of this land from the little fellows who paid all they had into these lots, they have had the senate pass a bill to provide for the payment of delinquent taxes on these lots in the years to come. All they want to do is hold these lots until times get better and they do not want to pay any taxes on them, but they want to pass that tax on to the fellow who when times get better buys these lots again. Then these same real estate speculators will make another nice big profit," declares Representative Brown.

"But what about the man who has paid his taxes? This Moore bill has no regard for the sacrifices he has made to meet his obligations to the state. No, the man who has paid his tax is given no consideration whatever."

"However the Moore bill does take good care of the tax title shark and it glorifies the non-tax payers. It enables the land speculators to make another fortune all over again from the same lots they have re-possessioned."

"We are going to fight that bill in the house to the finish and we are going to see to it that the man who pays his taxes gets the same square deal as the man who doesn't pay his taxes," stated Representative Brown. The Moore bill provides for the payment of delinquent taxes over a period of years, beginning with 1935. It also provides that no interest shall be charged on back taxes when they are re-assessed.

Michigan banking circles are recovering from the shock they received last week when Governor Comstock at the behest of the Union Guardian officials of Detroit declared an eight day banking holiday in Michigan. Out-state resentment of the banking proclamation of the Governor has considerably dwindled. Bankers have been to Lansing to see their representatives and senators or they have written in an effort to find out just why it was that the order was of such a sweeping nature. Many of the banks remained open anyway. Governor Comstock has explained that the action was taken to prevent what he feared would have been the collapse of not only the Guardian banks, but many others as well. Such a conservative state as Michigan saw no reason to get excited over the affair and its banking business will go on as usual predict Lansing officials under the safeguards now being perfected.

Present prospects are that the state-owned cement plant at Chelsea will not be sold or junked by the state before 1935 as provided in a bill passed by the state legislature two years ago. Representative Carl DeLano of Kalamazoo county has introduced a concurrent resolution in the legislature asking for an inquiry into the present status of the cement plant with the idea of again placing it in operation for the manufacture of cement for state highway purposes. Representative DeLano charges that since the bill was passed to abolish the state-owned cement plant, that cement companies in Michigan have greatly increased the prices of their product. In fact Secretary B. J. Abbott of the administrative board has rejected all cement bids lately because the declares they were too high. It will be recalled that it was differences between former Governor Groesbeck and the cement industry of the state over prices for cement that led to the establishment and operation of the cement plant during his administration and at a time when the state was starting on its big concrete road building program. It was during the administration of Governor Green when agitation was started to do away with the cement plant, but the bill was not passed until the Brucker administration.

Payless pay days are near at hand or the employees of Michigan. Governor Comstock from a hurried inquiry into conditions, regards the situation of the state finances of such a serious nature that he has called the various department heads in and has told them to cut the salaries and expenses to the very limit. Not only must they cut expenses, but they must cut down the number of employees in their departments. Not until they began to realize the fact that payless pay days might continue for some time has the army of salaried state employees fully realized the seriousness of the plight of Michigan.

The U. S. postoffice department in Lansing has held that a state of Michigan check issued since the banking holiday was proclaimed is worthless. When one was presented at the postoffice the other day for postage, it was refused. The amount of the check was only $200.

From all figures available that State Treasurer Fry can secure, the deficit of the state of Michigan up to the present time of the fiscal year which ends June 30, is seven and a quarter million dollars. Before the fiscal year ends it will be millions more, Governor Comstock and his aids are trying to figure out ways to take care of this record deficit that his administration inherited.

THE MAN WHO WAITS

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Late Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

It is Longfellow, paraphrasing an old Spanish proverb, who says in his "Falcon of Ser Federigo," "All things come around to him who will but wait." We are too impatient usually of results; even though the poet Milton assures us that "They also serve who only stand and wait," we prefer action, and when waiting seems to be the most strategic move we grow irritated or turn to something else.

Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, was a very ambitious man, and a very talented one, but he had learned how to wait. Even as a boy he cast himself in the role of Desmosthenes, of Napoleon, of Alexander. He was always a leader in whatever his imagination led him to engage in. And yet if he had faced the facts there was little chance for him. He was a Jew, and the Jews were a despised and almost an ostracized race in England when Disraeli was a boy.

The story is told in the admirable biography by Andre Maurois that when Disraeli was a young boy at school he and a school fellow were reading together. They held the book between them, and Disraeli, far more rapid in getting over the page than his companion, had finished before Jones had more than begun. This distressed the little fellow who tried to keep up with his more erudite companion. He sighed, "Never mind," Disraeli said encouragingly, "I can wait."

It was one of the strong characteristics of his life that he could wait, a characteristic which few men possess. We don't like waiting.

It is wisest often to make haste slowly. Norton wants to be rich, and he cannot wait. He never buys a conservative security; he looks for the highest interest possible. He puts his money only into enterprises which promise quick and high returns. Most of his investments, therefore, have gone onto the rocks. Because of his lack of deliberation and because he could not wait to attain his ends he has made little or no progress toward the attainment of his financial ambition.

TROUT GO TO GREAT LAKES

The recently expressed opinion of Dr. Carl L. Hubbs, Director of the Michigan Institute for Fisheries Research that rainbow trout if not taken in the streams when small will move out into the Great Lakes and thus be removed from the trout fisherman's reach, reflects a habit of trout that live in streams flowing into Great Lakes waters, according to the Fish Division of the Conservation Department.

Few rainbow trout weighing more than five or six pounds are ever taken from even the best populated rainbow trout streams in Michigan, while the same species, known in the Great Lakes waters as "steelheads" will often grow to become 15 to 18 pounds in weight. As these fish grow, the Fish Division said, they seek more water and more food and will move downstream to the mouth, going into the Great Lakes or the larger inland lakes. While they lose much of the beautiful coloration that covered them in the streams and while they lose much of their game qualities in the more sluggish waters, they often grow to enormous size.

The largest rainbows found in streams emptying into the Great Lakes are probably fish which came up the river to spawn and have not yet returned to the "big water."

A similar situation is true with brook trout and brown trout, the Fish Division said, although neither of these species are as migratory as the rainbow. Found in the Great Lakes, they are generally not far from the mouths of the streams, but they will average a larger size than those found in the streams, many brook trout taken from the Great Lakes, averaging five to seven pounds in weight.
